

Please leave Indiana's ban on telemarketers being able to call us alone. It is the best thing that has happened to the phone since it was invented. Waste my tax dollars on something else. If you insist on screwing up a good thing because telemarketers contribute more to politics may they all call you at night when you want to spend time with your family. And may the residents of Indiana put the hack who passes this foolishness out of office.